Pastor's Corner

Yesterday, Val's daughter Carin and grand kid, Marco visited the church of San Xavier Del Bac in South Tucson which was built in the late 1600's by Jesuit and later Franciscan priests at what is now the Tohono O'odham Nation. It's a small church that has been restored to the simple beauty found in carvings in many churches in the Southwest. Sitting in a pew inside the Chapel, I wondered at the amazing carvings and statues that decorated the Alter and Chancel area.

The members of the congregation, along with federal and local help had restored the inside and outer fascia of this very old building. Looking up at the paintings, frescos and carvings continually restored by those who loved that Church, I realized the time, labor, patience, sweat, tears, and faith it must have taken to build and rebuild the simple beauty of that little church at least three times in its history. The faith of those Mexican Americans, Native Americans and Anglos like you and me made it happen ~ with God's help. It's that faith and determination that give birth to churches and keeps them alive. It's also that same energy which drives us to work to keep Molt Church alive and doing what God has called us to do. As I looked at that creation by God and his people, I found myself saying quietly, "We can do that too."

In the Boulder River Valley

Mission Project excerpt from You & Me Camp Letter:

"The only money you will need at camp will be for a special mission offering at our closing worship. This special offering will go to help our neighbors who have been impacted by recent flooding. Our special mission project will be collecting cleaning supplies for disaster buckets to aide in clean up. If you would like to help in this mission, bring cleaning supplies for the buckets. We will collect the supplies, create the buckets, and I will deliver them to the Conference Office for distribution. We will also collect gas cards or donations for gas cards to assist with volunteer travel expenses as they assist in cleanup. I have included a list of items for the bucket. We will assemble what we gather, and Molt Church will arrange to complete the project."

Molt Church and You & Me Camp campers invite you to help with this project. Enclosed is an explanation and a list of items which are needed for the Clean-up buckets.

Here is the list for building a Disaster Clean-up Bucket. Trudi will begin the project as she leads You & Me Camp July 5-8. She will arrange to have buckets at Molt and Rapelje for folks who wish to contribute items on the list from this week until July 18. She will then make the number of buckets she can get from the items collected and fill in missing items. The buckets will be taken to the Conference Office for distribution. A special offering will be taken at Camp for purchase of gas cards to help with travel expenses for volunteers and for those helping with clean up as well as for folks who have added travel due to road closures, etc. As needs become clear, another fundraiser will be held to help with further needs. Trudi will collect donations for the gas cards from anyone interested in helping out. Donations may be sent to Molt Church c/o Trudi Downer PO Box 81, Molt MT 59057. If you have questions or would like items picked up, call or email Trudi. ((406)647-2924 or kddd48@itstriangle.com).

Just use the list of items to create the buckets; we will collect donations and distribute the buckets and donations in our area rather than sending everything through CWS.

Howdy YBA members!

This is your weekly TGIF and YBA music update. May I first apologize for the lack of a Music News last week? I was at Montana Fiddle Camp up in the glorious Little Belt mountains near Monarch, Montana. I was busy in the kitchen and without cell service while there. It was wonderful! Needless to say, I was unable to call or send email. So this update might be lengthy. A few of the YBA board members, YBA members and YBA officers were also at camp. It is a great opportunity for musicians of any age and any ability level to take a class with World Class instructors/musicians to focus on becoming a better musician. If this sounds interesting to you, start following Montana Fiddle Camp on the web and Facebook NOW and be one of the first to sign up for camp next year. Please be aware tho, Week 1 filled up within a few days of opening the registration line this year. So act fast.

Speaking of fiddle camp, as you know we sent a young fiddler, Odessa Coyle from Ennis, to the 2nd week of fiddle camp. I got to meet Odie (as her friends called her) and her parents and younger brother. What an enthusiastic, musically talented and fun family. Below is a photo that I took of Odessa during the student performances. She won an award in the Silly Fiddle contest where she had to play a song while lying on the floor. That little gal rocked it! What a pleasure to watch her play.

Many of you attended Archie Bott's 90th birthday bash this past weekend. It was an honor to be there and be in the huge jam circle with Archie. I think he thoroughly enjoyed himself while surrounded by many of his friends and family. Here's a pic of him playing his good ol' Martin.

Hey, if you are looking for something fun to do tomorrow, there's a big celebration at the Huntley Project Museum's 50th Birthday Bash. Several of your fellow YBA members will be playing music on the outdoor stage near the museum. The festivities start at 10 am and finish up at about 5 pm. Several of your Friday night Jam mates put together a band called "The Quarantines". They play at high noon. Also, fellow YBA member, Almeda Bradshaw, will be playing on stage at 2 pm. The Quarantines consist of: Paul Dextras, Wade Steinmetz, Dennis Anderson, Larry and LaLonnie Larson, Joe Buczek, Scott and Paddy Moore. Come on down for a great day of family entertainment!

One little bit of business... We did some purging of email addresses of members who had not renewed for a while this week. If you are receiving this Music News thingy then you are in pretty good standing and in good company, too. I did send a reminder to just a small handful of members who were still dragging their feet on renewing, and they know who they are. Here's the link to renew or purchase a YBA membership: yellowstonebluegrass.com. Click on membership in the menu.
